Abstract.....	i
Acknowledgements.....	v
List of Abbreviations.....	x
1 Introduction.....	1
1.1 Introduction.....	1
1.2 The Kayardild language, its speakers and sources.....	2
1.3 Novel contributions of the dissertation.....	6
1.4 On the structure of the grammar, from syntax to phonetic form.....	9
1.5 Levels of representation.....	10
1.6 Mappings between levels: Constraint based grammar.....	20
1.7 Notational conventions.....	30
1.8 Outline of the dissertation.....	33
2 Phonetics and surface phonology.....	35
2.1 The segmental inventory of Kayardild.....	35
2.2 Vowel phonotactics.....	74
2.3 Consonant phonotactics.....	95
2.4 Differences in segmental analyses vis-a-vis Evans (1995a).....	114
3 Word structure.....	118
3.1 Orientation.....	119
3.2 Lexical stems, lexical entries and redundancy rules.....	121
3.3 Stems of nominal roots only.....	125
3.4 Stems of verbal roots and thematics only.....	134
3.5 Stems of nominal roots, verbal roots and thematics.....	141
3.6 Suffixes.....	142
3.7 The termination, T.....	150
3.8 Morphs obscured by phonological modifications.....	166
3.9 Personal pronominal stems.....	171
3.10 Compass locational stems.....	176
3.11 Phonological enclitics.....	180
3.12 Sundry issues regarding roots, stems and suffixes.....	183
3.13 Regarding specific suffixes.....	203
3.14 The basis of phonologically conditioned allomorphy.....	223
3.15 Song forms and their place in Kayardild grammar.....	228
3.16 A lexicon of Kayardild suffixes.....	231
4 Segmental phonology.....	234
4.1 The relationship between phonology and morphology.....	235
4.2 Consonant cluster reduction.....	244
4.3 Architectures for Kayardild cluster phonology — preliminary models.....	260
4.4 Hiatus resolution.....	276
4.5 Phonological selection of allomorphs.....	287
4.6 The phonology of vowel–laminal sequences.....	307

5	Prosodic structure and intonation.....	311
5.1	Prosodic theory and prosodic constituency in Kayardild .....	311
5.2	Issues in the identification of stress in Kayardild .....	316
5.3	An analysis of Kayardild stress .....	326
5.4	An overview of Kayardild intonation.....	381
5.5	The autosegmental metrical analysis of intonation .....	406
5.6	An autosegmental metrical analysis of Kayardild intonation .....	411
6	Syntax, morphosyntax and inflection.....	432
6.1	Inflectional categories.....	433
6.2	Morphological form and function .....	443
6.3	Concord .....	473
6.4	Surface syntax, non-surface syntax, and concord.....	477
6.5	Clause structure .....	493
6.6	The DP .....	543
6.7	Feature percolation .....	564
6.8	DP juxtaposition .....	575
6.9	Particles, particle-like DPs, and surface syntax.....	607
6.10	Inflection and recursion.....	631
6.11	Implications for prior formal treatments of Kayardild inflection .....	637
6.12	Chapter summary .....	640
7	Realisational morphology .....	642
7.1	Nature of the analysis.....	643
7.2	$\Sigma \rightarrow M$ grammar.....	655
7.3	$M \rightarrow \Phi$ grammar .....	685
7.4	The architecture of Kayardild phonology and morphology .....	695
Appendix A	Segmental phonology .....	702
A.1	Consonant cluster modifications in the ‘regular’ phonology .....	702
A.2	Consonant cluster modifications in the ‘deleting’ phonology .....	713
A.3	Consonant cluster modifications in the ‘leniting’ phonology.....	715
A.4	Hiatus resolution .....	718
A.5	Vowel–laminal sequences .....	723
A.6	Three post-lexical processes .....	724
Appendix B	Distribution of A-TAM.....	727
B.1	CASE:locative daughters of $VP_\alpha$ / complements of V .....	728
B.2	Daughters of $VP_\alpha$ .....	733
B.3	Daughters, ambiguously of $VP_\alpha$ or $VP_\beta$ .....	742
B.4	Daughters of $VP_\beta$ .....	743
B.5	Daughters of $VP_\gamma$ .....	749
B.6	Daughters, ambiguously of $VP_\gamma$ or $VP_\delta$ .....	753
B.7	Daughters of $VP_\delta$ .....	758
